

Applying One Health Principles to Wildlife Management Symposium Saturday 17 February

8:00 am to 8:30 am	Registration
Session Chair – Karrie Rose/Heather Fenton – The Registry
8:30 am to 8:45 am	Welcome to Country -TBD
8:45 am to 9:45 am	Opening of Session and Australian Context of Threatened Species Management and Policy, Threatened Species Commissioner Opening of Session of One Health Challenges in New South Wales – Jo Coombe, Chief Veterinary Officer of New South Wales, Department of Primary Industries (DPI)
9:45 am to 10:15 am	Hendra Virus in Australia, A One Health Case Study; Raina Plowright, Professor, Cornell University
10:15 am to 10:30 am	Break
Session Chair – Karrie Rose/Heather Fenton – The Registry
10:30 am to 11:30 am	One Health in Europe, Carlos das Neves; Chief Scientist, European Food Safety Authority
11:30 am to 12:30	One Health approach to emerging arboviral diseases in New South Wales, John-Sebastian Eden, Westmead Institute for Medical Research & Sydney Institute for Infectious Diseases, The University of Sydney
12:30 pm to 1:30 pm	Lunch
Session Chair – TBC
1:30 pm to 2:30 pm	One Health perspectives in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities, Cam Raw, University of Melbourne
2:30 pm to 3:30 pm	TBD, DPE
Session Chair – TBC
3:30 pm to 4:00 pm	Australian National Perspective on One Health, Dwane O'Brien, Australian Center for Disease Preparedness (ACDP)
4:00 pm to 4:30 pm	“Biofilms and biodiversity: The enterococcus story in Christmas Island Reptiles” -Karrie Rose, The Registry
4:30 pm to 4:45 pm	BREAK
Session Chair – Heather Fenton - The Registry
4:45 pm to 6:00 pm	Panel discussion: Raina Plowright (Cornell University), Carlos das Neves (European Food Safety Authority), Jo Coombe (DPI), (DPE), Dwane O'Brien (ACDP), John-Sebastian Eden (University of Sydney), Cam Raw (University of Melbourne), Karrie Rose (ARWH)